Canada's PATH TO
NET ZERO

Infrastructure investment plays a critical role in the transition to a net-zero economy.

As an impact investor, the CIB is committed to helping develop the next generation of infrastructure for Canadians. Leveraging innovative financing options, we address capital structure gaps in projects across the clean power sector, including small module reactors.

ACCELERATING SMRS THROUGH CIB INVESTMENT

- » $970 million towards Canada’s first small modular reactor
- » 300,000 homes powered by Darlington SMR
- » 740 kilotonnes of carbon reduction between 2029 and 2050

As our largest clean power investment, we are supporting technology which can accelerate the reduction in greenhouse gases while also paving the way for Canada becoming a global SMR technology hub."
